Solar Power Innovation Driven By Bison

For solar equipment applications, downtime is not an option. That's why more and more solar equipment manufacturers choose Bison gearmotors as the driving force behind their products. They know that Bison gearmotors are built to last longer than any other manufacturer's gearmotors, and that makes all the difference.

Bison's Robusticity™ design philosophy produces gearmotors that are built to be the best from the inside out. From components of the highest quality to innovative design techniques and unequalled quality control measures, solar equipment designers know that the strength of Bison will always be there.
